Golf course

Thanks to CocoOne® golfers come to their well deserved rest after a day on the golf course. CocoOne® offers keen golfers a custom-made place to unwind after a successful round of golf. It provides a perfect alternative to the club house.

Limbic sphere

During our development and our previous existence in nature, patterns are imprinted in our subconscious. If any of these patterns is stimulated by something we hear, smell, taste or feel, the result is an emotional response. The shape of CocoOne® triggers positive emotions.

The Cocooning Lounge when closed looks similar to a shell.

When we open it, then the swing doors remind us of a sail in the wind. When closed it resembles protective wings around us - we feel secure as in the womb.

These optical stimuli are complemented by spherical stimuli: warmth, color light and music.

In cooperation with the "Delfin Wellness GmbH, CocoOne® emerged to be an "energy island" that allows many limbic moments.

The brain disengages from rational thought and the parasympathetic nervous system has time to fill our energy reserves.
